Gray Ladies Needed for City Hospitals

More workers are needed in the Gray Lady service provided for the two local hospitals under the sponsorship of North Columbiana County Chapter of the American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Hobart Butcher, executive director.

Mrs. Myron Riegel, chapter chairman of volunteer services, announced that a training class for new Gray Ladies will begin Feb. 12 at 9:30 a.m. in the Red Cross Chapter house, E. 2nd St.

Women interested in registering for the class may call Mrs. R. K. Zimmerman, Gray Lady chairman; the Red Cross office or Mrs. Riegel.

To be eligible to serve as a Gray Lady, one must be 18 years of age or older and be able to present a physician's statement that she is physically able to perform the duties which will be required of her.

Each Gray Lady will be asked to serve at least 100 hours a year in the local hospitals, furnishing her own uniforms and transportation, Mrs. Riegel said.

The training course includes a four-hour period of orientation conducted at the Red Cross office and separate sessions directed by hospital personnel.

Mrs. Riegel requests that prospective Gray Ladies now in the possession of applications complete them and return them to the Red Cross office as soon as possible.

Different Voices Present Problem for TV Engineers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—“Soft, sexy blurry voices make a marvelous sound for electronics,” said Phyllis Curtin, almost sadly. “But a well-trained, full soprano voice with a good ping on it is an engineer’s problem.”

And Miss Curtin, all music lovers well know, is possessed of a well-trained, full soprano voice with a good ping on it. And she is certain that it has never really been heard by the television audience.

“It is the problem of the receivers in the sets at home,” she said. “Many musical programs make every effort to reproduce sound well, and when we hear our efforts played on the studio’s machines, they sound great. But the receivers at home—most of them—just can’t handle those sounds in the high frequencies.”

Virtuoso singers are confronted with another problem when they move from the stage to positions in front of television cameras, she continued.

“The cameras have a tendency to focus on the faces of singers—it is an intimate medium and that is logical,” she explained. “But singing is not easy. It is physical work, and there are times in singing when the face cannot be beautiful and restful. There are times when the singer’s face can not bear a close-up. So the producers must learn to be infinitely careful about the way they handle the camera work.”

Phyllis Curtin, incidentally, has a big television Sunday coming up. She will be seen twice on the next Sabbath—in the afternoon on NBC’s repeat performance of the NBC Opera Company’s “The Love of Three Kings” by Montemezzi in which she sings the Flora part. That night she will appear—live—on ABC’s “Voice of Firestone.”

NBC had a camera crew with Benny Goodman and his band last summer in the cultural exchange with the Soviet Union that brought us the Bolshoi Ballet. From Moscow to Samarkand, the crowds flocked to see and hear American Jazz. Some remained stony faced, some were enthusiastic.

Thursday night’s “World of Benny Goodman” was primarily a report of that Soviet tour. It was an interesting program even if the title was misleading. The through his brilliant career and merely sketched his home life.

CHURCH IN THE HILLS

The little frame church in this snow-blanketed mountain village lifts its tall spire above its rugged environment like a sentinel guarding a sacred trust or a lighthouse on a rockbound coast.

Wherever man has pushed his habitations — in the bleak wastes of the polar regions, under the blazing tropical sun, or in the milder climates of the world — he has built his churches dedicated to the worship of God.

The fact that no community seems complete without its house of worship bears eloquent testimony to the universal recognition of man’s need of religion.

The village church plays a vital part in the life of the community. The spiritual standards of the people are fashioned there; marriage vows are spoken at its altar, and the honored dead sleep in its sacred soil.

There it stands in every community — the little frame church — pointing the people to God, teaching them the way of life, giving them strength and faith for every need.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children’s sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Change In the Climate

It is unthinkable to people who remember union labor's struggle to win recognition after Franklin D. Roosevelt became president 30 years ago that union labor now is regarded with the same fear that once caused business to come under regulation.

This was predicted by everyone who gave thought to the consequences of letting labor unions have monopoly power. Even the best friends of unions warned what would happen if men who understood unionism best were given a free rein.

They knew the human tendency to abuse power would assert itself. They knew how all power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely. They knew that to all intents and purposes unions had been given what amounted to absolute power in the Wagner Act of the early New Deal.

IT WOULD be only a matter of time until the abuse of this absolute power would make leaders of unions as feared as the leaders of monopolistic trusts ever had been.

Once that had happened, it would be only a matter of time until public clamor for restrictions on the power would curb those who had abused union power.

Congress has had to pass the Taft-Hartley Act and the Landrum-Griffin Act, both designed to keep labor unions from persisting in practices held hurtful to the general welfare.

This year there is demand for further restrictions on abuse of union power to cripple the economy of areas and industries over issues far removed from those originally dealt with in collective bargaining. They do not even seem to belong under the same code set up to protect unionism a generation ago.

THE CHANGE in the climate that has given unions and their leaders new issues has given the public and its lawmakers new points of view.

Relatively few people remember when unions were underdogs fighting for their lives. A new generation thinks of unions as top dogs in the economic free-for-all. People who are deprived of services and often of subsistence now are the underdogs.

If proposals for union restrictions come before the 88th Congress, this will be the climate — that the absolute power of unions, having been abused, must be modified and curbed in the public interest.

Is Cuba Threatening Invasion?

Unless Americans are careful about Cuban armament, they will say things that will sound to Latin Americans as if only the United States in this hemisphere had the right to defend itself.

Cuba apparently is arming as fast as it can bring in military hardware from the Soviet Union and its satellites, Czechoslovakia especially. It has been threatened once with an actual invasion attempt and has heard President Kennedy promise refugee Cubans that their banner will be unfurled one day in Havana.

To the Cuba government headed by Fidel Castro, invasion is not a theory about something that might happen. It is a tangible threat given credence by a fact that must be well-known to Cuban officials — that a sizeable body of U.S. public opinion believes Cuba is an unfriendly power that cannot be tolerated in the New World.

WHETHER Cuba is arming itself against the threat of invasion or arming itself in connection with some project to undermine security in the New World, contrary to the spirit and letter of the Monroe Doctrine, is going to baffle the most apprehensive alarmists. They will be unable to guess and military intelligence agents will be unable to ascertain the ultimate purpose of a Cuban arms buildup.

It will be as hard to pin down as it is for foreigners to pin down whether the United States is preparing to resist invasion or carry on a military campaign against targets far from its own shores.

What would be the difference between a missile pointed at the United States on a launching pad in Cuba and a missile pointed at this country on a Cuba-based Russian submarine lying off New York harbor?

What would be the difference between a pen for submarines to protect Cuba with torpedoes and a pen for submarines to attack U.S. shipping with submarine torpedoes?

AS LONG AS Cuba exists as a Soviet satellite, questions like these will be asked and not answered.

The ultimate question is what it has been ever since the United States let Cuba become a Soviet satellite by backing the Batista dictatorship until Cubans had no choice but to welcome Castro as a deliverer.

How long can the United States tolerate an unfriendly Soviet satellite within 90 miles of its shores and within easy subversion distance of all other Latin American countries?

Job Well Done

We hope the Salem city service department continues its good job of keeping the streets open when the snow flies. At no time this season has there been an opportunity to complain about thoroughfares being impassable due to deep snow or icy conditions.

The motoring public is grateful to these crews which frequently work around the clock.

Charitable Endeavors

Humanitarian work is carried out by several agencies in the city and recent annual reports reflect the continued good work of such groups as the Salvation Army, the Salem Home Nursing Service and Catholic Charities.

Citizen board of directors help officers in their year-round operations which are financed, in part, by the United Fund. These are dollars put to good use in lending a charitable hand to the less-fortunate.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: The Washington crowd hasn't asked for my opinion on the tax question, which shows good sense on their part.

I would tell Washington faster than you can say "Jack Robinson" what it is doing. No one else dares to tell it because they're all playing the same game.

Washington is jollyng us up. It is chucking us under the chin to make us feel good. It is telling us a couple gulps of its magic elixir will make us feel like dancing a jig.

The only trouble with the United States, it is explaining to us, is that we have been getting sluggish. We need to be pepped up. A tax cut to make everybody feel good is what the doctor ordered.

But in spite of charts and statistics that are supposed to prove the doctor knows what he is talking about, all that Washington is doing is to tell the piper to keep playing to cover up the fact it can't pay him for the tunes he has played since the end of the war.

I don't care how much high-level rationalization and deep-dish platitudes the boys in Washington spoon-feed to us, the care of this matter is their inability to get elected and hold down the spending rate at the same time. They are afraid to economize.

They are putting their political survival ahead of national survival. This is not a partisan matter. Ever since the war, our country has lived beyond its income. On the rare occasions when it made ends meet, it got into the black by a whisker. On the many occasions when it flunked the test it plopped into the red over its head. We have gone from a per capita debt of $367 in 1940 to one of nearly $1,600.

This means we haven't been able to afford to live in the style to which our politicians have said we must grow accustomed. There is no other explanation.

So now we are told we still aren't living high enough but because we can't afford to live even as high as we're living we should pare down the payments.

A truckload of charts and statistical tables cannot change the fact we're failing to make ends meet. All the optimism in the world cannot change it. We have a fighting chance to spark off a business boom if we reduce the payments to conceal the fact we can't afford the debt we're already in, but only a fighting chance. We already have a pretty good boom going without any kickapoo juice.

Moreover, who says the politicians won't keep right on laddling out the gravy faster than we can make it? Must we take their word for it that they have changed their spending spots and burnt bankrupts will dread the fire.

You wonder sometimes if these fellows believe what they say. That would be even scarier than if they were making a pitch to gull us gillies.

I personally think they believe it. I think they have undergone a process of internal rationalization which convinces them it makes sense to spend it faster than they dare to collect it and even to argue that they already are collecting it too fast.

Your aunt says to tell you we are having the kind of winter she cannot remember when she was a girl so how old-fashioned are we supposed to get? Regards to all.

Colleges Too Selective, Some Educators Fear

* By TERRY FERRER

Herald Tribune News Service
This is the time of year when college admissions directors are out on the road looking for that extra special student whom they might miss.

This is particularly true for the admissions men and women from the so-called highly selective colleges along the Eastern seaboard. They travel West and Midwest and South, and talk to high school guidance counselors and students, and keep their eyes open for the best students, whom they try to steer to their own institutions.

WOULD THAT THEY WERE

as eager to find that extra special student who hasn't yet indicated just how good he will become. It is now something of a truism in college admissions circles that Einstein, Darwin, Churchill and a host of other outstanding men and women would never get into today's top colleges because of their poor early academic records.

But the real danger in today's highly selective institutions is that future Darwins and Churchills won't get in either, because they don't test well and because they are late bloomers.

College, says a Princeton professor, is and should be a place where students "learn to glow, but now are asking them to glow first" and come to college afterward — if the wattage is strong enough.

DR. JOHN T. BONNER, professor of biology, served on Princeton's admissions committee for two years (he is now off the committee). During that time, he learned to mistrust college board and national merit scores because they offered "severely limited" information, except perhaps in mathematical ability.

Even though admissions directors are tending toward less reliance on test scores, Dr. Bonner says, the fact still remains that "universities are now only taking the students with low grades, does this mean that fewer successful people, fewer people who make a real contribution to our civilization, will come from liberal arts colleges and universities?"

SLOW STARTERS, he continues, "May, and often do achieve great heights in their careers, and are private colleges willing to forsake them completely in the future?" He then proposes that devastating pastime: "To remember back to one's own college days and recall who one thought at that time were going to be the successful giants of the future, and then compare those predictions with the cold facts of 20 or 25 years later."

It is so often true that those on the crest of the wave, both in their intellectual promise and in other ways, dropped along the wayside, and some small nobody who was hardly remembered as an undergraduate is now a famous playwright or has solved some great medical problem or is a U. S. Senator.

If the colleges continue to take only the best and reject the rest, Dr. Bonner maintains, it will mean that perhaps "the vigor of selective colleges will decline (for they did not think enough about what they are selecting) and the public schools and the state colleges grow stronger because, by their very size, they failed to weed out the 'wrong' man."

SOME COLLEGES ARE already aware that over-selectivity

History Today

Today is Saturday, Jan. 26, the 26th day of 1963. There are 339 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1947, American opera singer Grace Moore was among 22 persons killed in an airplane crash at Copenhagen, Denmark. Victims also included the king of Sweden's grandson, Prince Gustaf Adolf.

On this day: In 1679, the keel was laid for the two-masted armored square-rigger Le Griffon — first commercial vessel on the Great Lakes.

In 1788, Sydney, Australia, was founded as a British penal colony. In 1830, Sen. Daniel Webster of Massachusetts delivered his famous speech on the Constitution of the United States and its relation to states' rights.

In 1939, Spain's Loyalist government surrendered the city of Barcelona during that country's civil war.

In 1954, the first atomic battery was demonstrated.

Today's birthdays: General Douglas MacArthur is 83. Actor Paul Newman is 38.

Thought for today: It is fatal to enter any war without the will to win it—Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Translators - At - Large

By WARD CANNEL
NEW YORK — (NEA) — While everybody else has been watching the Cold War, Cape Canaveral and the Common Market, the real reins of our destiny have been passing unobserved into the hands of an unlikely little cadre—the free-lance international translators.

Not counting the fearful mountain of wordage moved daily from language to language at the U.S. or in commercial firms who employ their own interpreters, an estimated 3 million words per month are turned over to free-lancers in New York alone.

And the same is true in almost every major city in the world from Hong Kong to Chicago, from London to Moscow.

THESE WORDS range from vital technical bulletins and crucial business correspondence to press information, sales promotion and even the subtitles on movies, which, in the long run, reach more people than all the world's foreign aid.

But how well do these words survive the translation?

In Paris, for example, a competition among the city's translators for several staff jobs with an intergovernmental agency brought out 526 applicants and weeded out only six as likely possibilities.

A similar search in Geneva, the world's interlanguage capital, turned up only three out of 126 applicants.

In the British film "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning," a character explains that he spends Sunday mornings with the bookies. But with sub-titles in French, it appears that he spends Sunday reading good books.

WITH THE WORLD shrinking, facts like these have boosted the fee for a good translator to $50 per day. The $1,000 which a translator used to ask for a four-month job on a novel, he now sets as his monthly wage—if he will deign to take a steady job.

"More likely," says Philip Gilead, head of a European translation network, "the translator prefers to remain a free-lancer. On today's international stage he is a virtuoso."

And he lives the part. One Italian translator says he works best if he works through the night. Another says he works best near the bathroom: if he can't get a word or phrase, he takes a bath and waits for it to come to him.

SOME TRANSLATORS require the noise of a radio or traffic. Some demand absolute silence. One man who works in German needs a quiet room and a fast secretary as he dictates his translations at the breakneck speed of 40 pages per day. If he had to slow down, he says, the quality of his work would suffer.

Virtuosi of this skill, however, comprise about 5 per cent of the translators in the market today. The demand is so great that people like Gilead are looking for translators in, of all places, the tongue-tied U.S.

What makes the job so difficult when bellboys, waiters and taxi drivers the world over have little trouble in translation? A spokesman for the European free-lance agency, Transpost, Inc., puts it this way:

A translator must know his own language the way a violinist knows the violin. He must be a good writer. He must understand may be losing them some potentially great citizens. Brown University is interested in canvassing its alumni of the past 10 to 15 years and seeing how many were admitted without outstanding records on paper. Brown would like, as Dr. Bonner suggests, to use this data as a basis for admitting at least 10 per cent of its freshman class each year from among applicants it would normally consider risky or shaky academically on the basis of record.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE, in an announced policy of refusing to use college board scholastic aptitude tests score as the final admissions criterion, last year took 11 per cent of its freshman from among boys who did not score particularly well on the S.A.T.

And Williams College last April received $125,000 from the Ford Foundation to experiment with 10 per cent of "risky admissions" in its freshman class. The president of Williams, Dr. John E. Sawyer, warned in his inaugural address a year ago: "Imperfect numerical scoring systems tied to uniform examinations at a fixed grade might exclude from first-line colleges and universities an important part of the potential diverse leadership of a coming generation."

What Williams is seeking and what other colleges should not continue to exclude entirely — is the freshman of whom it can be said: "There is going to be an interesting person."

League Commends Council
The League of Women Voters would like to commend City Council for its action in setting up the new position of building inspector which is to be coupled with that of zoning officer.

A building inspector is essential in any progressive city and in carrying out his duty, namely to enforce the provisions of a building code. He will prevent substandard building which would be detrimental to the city as a whole, as well as to individuals concerned.

With the enactment of a more stringent building code and one which covers all the building trades, Salem will have made a real step forward.

Reuther Aims for New Unions

By VICTOR RIESEL

Walter Reuther and his colleagues of the old CIO who have been experimenting with two pilot unionizing campaigns, now are ready to take off for specially selected target areas east of the Mississippi from the Canadian border to the deep South.

At a closed-door organizing conference held at Washington on the morning of Jan. 15, five "target areas" were picked for concentration. These are Boston, Chicago, the Houston-Fort Worth-Dallas sector, Philadelphia and Spartansburg, S. C.

Old CIO buddies will direct the zeroing in on the targets. In the high command will be Reuther and Jim Carey, once the top officials of what was once the CIO.

In daily operational charge will be a veteran of the old steel and aluminum industry unionizing campaigns, Nick Zonarich, now organizational director of the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO.

THIS OLD TEAM will attempt to prove that "organizing the unorganized" still is a fighting slogan. They intend to prove that militant labor still can unionize hundreds of thousands of workers.

Into this drive Reuther and his lieutenants will throw heavy salvos of manpower, money, and what is still the youngest, brainpower inside labor.

Armies of union organizers will pour out of history into territories their leaders have surveyed in search of new industries being built up by government spending for defense and rocketry.

"It will be like the old days," said Jim Carey the other day, very quietly and deliberately.

"No fanfare, no quotes, however. But we'll operate as we did when we started the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (SWOC), which turned into the United Steelworkers of America. Back there in the '30s the Miners helped. Today it will be the United Auto Workers, the International Union of Electrical Workers, the Steelworkers."

IN ADDITION to the target regions, the drive will aim at "problem industries" — textile and wood, furniture, for example. This means hitting the southland. And Reuther's people are ready, they say.

In Dixie there is the Spartansburg, S. C. pilot project.

There the "coordinated organizing concept" has been tried for some time now.

The local unions, and their national offices, furnished the bulk of the organizing staff. Then the IUD set up a central headquarters and a coordinator.

In a small way they went after new industries there — in steel, electronics, textiles, soft goods.

There also has been a pilot project in Philadelphia. Now the Reuther-led organization says it is ready "to beef up" the two operational projects with organizers, money and new techniques of which they refuse to speak.

The third project will be based out of Houston. There, some 25 unions already have been coordinated. At least one meeting has been held. It was briefed last year by Zonarich. Shortly the unionizing drive will be launched in the "Houston-Fort Worth-Dallas region."

THE NEW targets are Boston and Chicago. These areas will be coordinated along the pilot project lines. Interested unions will be called together.

Those willing to participate will be called on for the sinews of organizing. A central office will be set up. In each region the IUD will have "broad authority for purposes of the drives."

Target plants inside target areas will be selected. Unions will be asked by a central committee about their interest in each plant. This was tried in Philadelphia, said Carey.

Of 125 target mills there, he reported, few unions competed for the same target. Where they did,

The President said then that "the best information we have is that one ship has arrived since the October crisis, which may have had arms on it, possible military cargo. But there has not been a military buildup in that sense of the equipment coming in from outside of Cuba..."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., has declared he has information "confirmed by official government sources," that Russia has poured 20,000 men and munitions into Cuba and that a buildup of Soviet military installations there is continuing.

He said the munitions include warplanes capable of carrying nuclear warheads, and with areas in the United States and Latin America. But he said he has no knowledge of whether Cuba has received nuclear warheads.

Common Pleas Ruling In Suit Reversed

LISBON — The 7th District Court of Appeals Friday reversed the decision of Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in a suit by Richard N. Peterson administrator of the estate of Audrey F. Peterson to recover $2,000 under the family compensation clause from the Nationwide Insurance Company of Columbus.

Peterson claimed that his wife Patricia E. Peterson whose car was struck from the rear by another vehicle and who was about five months pregnant at the time gave premature birth to a child, Audrey as a result. The child later died.

Judge Buzzard found a causal connection between the accident and subsequent premature birth and death but ruled that the decedent was a movable fetus and as such not a person who had a right of action on the contract and dismissed the petition.

The Appeals Court ruled that it was difficult to avoid the conclusion that a child who receives a certificate of live birth who breathes moves its limbs and cries is a person with the concept of third party beneficiary of the contract.

The Appeals Court ordered the cause returned to common pleas court for a new trial.

Company Rejects Settlement Bid In Transit Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A proposed settlement in the 12-day transit strike, which union members had already voted 10-1 to accept, has been rejected by the Philadelphia Transportation Co.

Transport workers on their way to get the buses, trolleys and subways rolling again were called back Friday night. Pickets returned to their posts.

The proposed settlement, negotiated after 10 days of meetings, was rejected by the company's executive committee. Robert H. Stier, PTC president and chief negotiator, promptly resigned.

His successor, Albert G. Lyons, a vice president, said he telephoned Michael J. Quill, international president of the Transport Workers Union, and they scheduled a negotiating session today.

"This could take weeks now," Quill said. "We're jacking up our demands right back to where they were before the strike started."

Quill had called the proposed settlement a tremendous victory for the 5,600 members of Local 234. The union began the negotiations with a demand for a 75-cents-an-hour wage package plus benefit increases and retention of a no-layoff clause.

The proposed settlement retained the no-layoff clause for all pre-strike employees and provided wages would go up 10 cents each year of the two-year contract. The remaining 13 cents an hour was the estimated cost of the fringe benefits.

Douglas M. Pratt, head of the National City Lines of Chicago, parent company of the PTC said Friday night, "We simply do not have the money to meet the onerous terms of the new agreement. The PTC at present wage levels already is suffering losses at the rate of $1 million a year."

Present wages range from $2.25 to $2.75 an hour.

Election Board To Seek Ballot Bids On Feb. 11

The Columbiana County Election Board today mailed specifications to job printers, seeking bids on ballots for the May 7 primaries.

The announcement pointed out the sealed offers will be received at the board's office in East Liverpool until 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11.

Unless one or more primaries are called off under Ohio's so-called "no contest" law, the board expects it will require ballots for voting in seven cities and villages — East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem, East Palestine, Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon.

At least one special issue is in sight at present and indications are that the total may hit four or five.

The Election Board also called for bids on pollbooks for both the May primaries and the November general election.

It warned job printers it will be required to have absentee ballots available beginning March 8 for members of the armed forces and their spouses and civilians residing temporarily outside the United States.

The conventional civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots will not be issued until April 7.

Absentee ballots are for those who will be outside Columbiana County and at least 10 miles from their home precinct on Election Day. The disabled voters' ballots are for those unable to get to the polls because of illness or infirmity.

Salem High School cagers displayed poise, hustle, determination and shooting ability in abundant quantities to turn back a fired-up Wellsville squad 79-64 at Senior High gymnasium Friday night.

Veteran Bill Beery swished the nets for 28 points as he broke the school scoring record for three years, and continued to make his bid for the all-time mark.

Beery's three-year-total is 918 points. Jack Alexander, who has the school all-time record with 1,050 for four seasons, held the old standard for three campaigns with 900 points.

A jam-packed house, which included some of the nation's leading college basketball coaches, watched the great team effort by Salem against the Bengals.

COACH JOHN Cabas' aggregation (8-3) will need another all out effort tonight when Salem entertains a cage-savvy Akron South team.

It was only the second loss of the season for Coach Jack McDewitt's tall Wellsville aggregation. The River City squad (8-2) had a seven game win streak snapped. Eight players saw action for the Bengals. Five of them are 6-2 or taller, with center Steve Baldwin, towering 6-6.

Senior Bob King, 6-5, who contributed 25 points to Salem's winning cause, was a demon on the backboards. He hauled in 25 against a Wellsville front line that stood 6-6, 6-3 and 6-3.

The strong effort on the boards by the determined Quakers was a deciding factor. Salem hauled in 51 rebounds from its rangy opponent.

Wellsville entered the clash fired up, and it appeared that the Bengals meant business as they held their own with the Red and Black during the initial period.

DURING the first quarter the lead changed hands 12 times. With 1:34 remaining, the Quakers went out in front and were never headed again.

With their strongest defensive showing of the season, Salem managed to keep things under control following the sizzling first frame.

Turnovers by the Bengals were numerous, and the Rebel defense caused Wellsville to make several bad passes. Salem's offense made only six mistakes.

The miscues included taking extra steps on four occasions and two offensive fouls.

Both teams were hot from the field at the start of the contest, but Salem managed to pull in front 23-19 as Beery made a shot at the buzzer to end the first period.

IN THE SECOND stanza, Wellsville wasn't able to keep up with Salem's relentless running pace, and the Bengals fell behind 41-29 by intermission.

Salem put the game on ice in the third session, taking a commanding 61-43 margin. Wellsville outscored the Red and Black 21-18 in the final frame.

With 1:37 left of the fourth frame, John Zilske made his debut for Salem. The 6-1 athlete may develop into an important asset before the end of the campaign.

Salem hit on 28 of 66 shots from the field for 42.4 per cent. At the foul line the Quakers canned 23 of 34 for 67.6 per cent. Wellsville hit on 29 of 72 field goal attempts for 40 per cent. The Bengals made only six of 17 from the charity circle.

One of the most improved players on the floor last night was Rich Sweitzer. The 6-1 athlete hauled in eight rebounds and canned four points. He played the better part of the last three periods.

Baldwin, who fouled out late in the third period, finished with 14 points. His Wellsville teammates, Ed Nelson and Forest Harris, collected 16 and 14 markers, respectively.

Since coming to Salem, Coach Cabas has recorded 196 victories and 63 losses. He needs only four to become a 200-game winner at the helm of the Quakers.

1964 Event Slated For Tokyo

Next To Yanks, Russia Fears Germany, Africa In Olympics

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Next to the Yanks, the teams the Russians fear most in the 1964 Olympics are Germany and the rising new nation of Africa.

Gabriel Korobkov, the Soviet Union's Olympic track and field coach, left little doubt of this today when asked if he thought the Tokyo Games would present another power struggle between Russia and the United States.

"Not at all," the pleasant, round-faced Russian replied.

"Germany will be very difficult to beat, and so will the Africans."

Then smiling in advance at his own private joke, he added:

"When the Africans start getting three meals a day, they may beat all of us. They are terribly poor at the moment."

Korobkov, who has learned to speak excellent English in the years he has been leading Russian track forces against America, said the Germans cannot be overlooked as a threat for the unofficial championship.

"They not only are improving in every sport but they will have two teams at Tokyo instead of one. It does not matter that they are East Germans or West Germans, they are still all Germans."

Korobkov is here with three of the Soviet Union's outstanding athletes — high jumper Valery Brumel, broad-jumper Igor Ter-Ovanesyan and middle distance ace Valery Bulishev for a series of indoor appearances, starting with the Millrose Games next Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Page 8 SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1963

Leetonia Dumped By Poland 59-53

Big 6-4 Bob Lindberg garnered 17 tallies and pulled down 18 rebounds Friday night as he led his Poland Bulldog teammate to a 59-53 victory over the visiting Leetonia Bears in a Tri-County League encounter.

Lindberg cashed in on eight floor shots and a lone charity shot to accrue his points and was a one man gang on defense as he battered down many Bear shots in the crucial fourth period.

Leetonia held a slim margin (14-13) at the end of the first canto only to fall behind by two (29-27) at halftime.

The third period was a nip-and-tuck affair with the squads deadlocked at 41-41 as the contest entered the final eight minutes of play.

Two other Bulldog cagers ended the tilt in double figures. Gary Walter swished the netting with seven goals and one foul shot for 15 points while Bill Allen sank five floor shots for 10.

Jay Holloway and Henry Nemenz were high point men for the losers. Holloway connected for 15 counters and Nemenz chipped in a dozen.

The win gives Poland a 5-3 loop mark and tightens their hold on third place in the loop behind Lisbon and Columbiana which are tied for first with 7-1 records.

Leetonia is now tied with Minerva for fourth place with a 4-4 conference mark. Poland's season mark is 7-5 and Leetonia's 5-6.

In preliminary action Poland's jayvees took a 41-29 decision from their Leetonia counterparts. Leetonia entertains Crestview tonight. Poland is idle.

Columbiana Registers Easy 70-39 Win Over Louisville

The Columbiana Clippers humbled the Louisville Leopards 70-39 Friday night for their 10th victory of the season in a Tri-County tussle at Louisville. The win pulled Columbiana into a tie with Lisbon for first place in the circuit.

Pacing the victors were Dale Murphy with 16 points Jim Ward with 15 and Rick Perrin 14.

Strong defensive play by the Clippers kept the Leopards from scoring even one field goal for a period of 11 minutes.

Rebounding stars in the contest were Phil Burbick for Columbiana and Larry Sommers of Louisville. Sommers and Bob Gladieux were high point men for the losers with 11 points each.

Although the Leopards were still within reach of the Clippers at halftime 33-25, the Clippers got hot in the third quarter and led 50-27 at the end of that stanza, breaking the Leopards' back.

Columbiana connected on 29 of 35 field goals tried and 18 of 29 foul shots.

Louisville smashed the Clippers reserve team, 52-30.

The Clippers will tangle with East Palestine next Friday while Louisville will take on Minerva.

Kress Tallies 42 As Crestview Wins

Jim Kress turned in his top performance of the season Friday night as the Crestview Rebels posted a 70-63 victory over the invading North Lima Zippers in an Inter-County loop battle.

Kress, displaying his usual offensive prowess stuffed in 19 floor shots and collected four more from the foul line to wind up the evening with an enviable 42 counter. His previous high was two consecutive games of 40 points.

The Rebels had little difficulty in notching their third victory against one setback in loop action and 10th win in 12 season outings.

North Lima suffered its second setback in three league starts and 11th in 12 season tilts.

Jim Perry and Rick Plasket turned in a good night's work for the losers. Perry connected for 10 goals and two foul shots for 22 points followed closely by Plasket with eight floor shots and three fouls for 19 counters. Jack Hayden added 12 more points for the losers.

Crestview moved to an 18-10 first quarter mark and were never threatened. The scoreboard showed the Rebels ahead 38-24 at the half and 52-44 at the end of three periods.

Crestview's reserves copped their pre-varsity clash downing the Zippers 37-28.

Tork Makes 16-2 1/4, Eyes Boston Meet

TORONTO (AP)—Slender Dave Tork, the newest juggler of the hot potato known as the world indoor pole vault record, says his vault of 16 feet, 2 1/4 inches Friday night was just the beginning.

"That was just a warm-up," laughed the 27-year-old former Marine from West Virginia after his record vault at the Maple Leaf Game. "Wait until the Boston A. A. meet tonight. I'll really shoot the works then. I always feel good in Boston."

Tork, who now does public relations work for the state of West Virginia, felt good enough here Friday night to become the third athlete to establish a world indoor pole vault record in the last four weeks. Don Meyers of the University of Colorado became No. 1 by clearing 16-1 1/4 in Chicago last Dec. 20. Last Saturday, Pentti Nikula of Finland raised the record to 16-1 in an indoor meet in Helsinki.

Tork's record outshone brilliant performance by Canadians Bruce Kidd and Bill Crothers and followed a controversial finish to the 800-yard run in which Jack Yerman of Oakland, Calif., edged world record holder George Kerr, former Illinois star from Jamaica.

Kidd, the 19-year-old Canadian distance ace, brought roars from the big crowd when he won the 3-mile run in 13 minutes, 34.6 seconds and lapped the field doing it. He was 12.4 seconds under his best previous time for the distance.

Crothers won the 1,000-yard run in 2:12.6, beating Oregon State's Norm Hoffman by seven yards. Yerman won the 600 when he came wide as Kerr seemed to bear out in the last 10 yards, shoved the Jamaican to the side, and got to the tape by an inch in 1:12.3 — three seconds behind Kerr's world record.

"This is the second time Kerr ran me on the outside," Yerman said. "He did it two years ago in Los Angeles and got away with it. Shoved him this time in self protection."

"You saw what happened," snarled Kerr, who refused to accept the runner-up prize and was booed by the crowd when he refused to shake hands with Yerman. "He grabbed me by the shoulders with both hands."

Sosbe's Roll To 8th In Slo-Break League

Sosbe's was awarded a forfeit and upped its season record to 8-0, and Rodis Tavern trimmed Willy's 48-45 in City Slo-Break competition at the Memorial Building Thursday night.

Willy's led 14-9 at the end of the initial period and 26-17 at intermission. Rodis Tavern took a 18-45 lead at the end of the third session.

Dick Jefferies led Rodis Tavern with 15 points. Bill Crookston chipped in with 12. Ralph DeZee took scoring honors with 16 markers. Bob Woolman had 14.

Devis, Clippers Tied For Tri-County Lead

Led by sophomore Dan Baxter with 17 points, the Minerva Lions shocked the Lisbon Blue Devils Friday night at the Stark County school, handing the former Tri-County leaders their first league defeat: 56-52. Lisbon is now tied with Columbiana for the League lead.

Coach Don Lawther's Lions, tied 8-8 in the first quarter, spurred ahead to stay as Bill Swinehart and Danny Clapper, another sophomore led the aggressive rebounding.

Baxter's performance only slightly overshadowed Larry Simms' 15 points and Dave Simms' 12 points for the victors. Ron Crosser led Lisbon's scoring with 12 followed by 12 each for Craig Pannier and Dennis Klug.

The defeat was Lisbon's second of the season giving the squad a 7-1 league record, 1-2 overall.

Minerva hit on 18 of 24 foul shots for 75 per cent compared to 60 per cent for Lisbon. Minerva struck on 42 per cent of its field goals compared to Lisbon's 37 per cent.

Lisbon's Reserves downed the Lions, 39-35.

Cincinnati Battles Illinois Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — A basketball doubleheader providing a little bit of everything, including the nation's three top-ranked teams, will attract a capacity crowd of 18,000 in Chicago Stadium tonight.

Heading the program is the second game between undefeated Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1 team, and third-ranked Illinois, with only a 90-88 loss to Notre Dame blotting its record.

Clay Failed To Fulfill One Promise, Gets Second Chance

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mystics: take note of the date, May 19, 1962. For on that fateful night Cassius Marcellus Clay, the soothsayer of boxing, was wrong.

Clay stopped Bill Daniels in New York on that date in the seventh round. Alast Cassius had said Daniels would fall in five.

The unbeaten 21-year-old prophet from Louisville said Friday he correctly called the round in 11 other knockout victories and that he didn't predict the outcome of his other five fights.

His latest prediction was fulfilled Thursday night when he knocked out Charley Powell in three rounds here.

The next bout for the fighting seer will be against Doug Jones March 13 in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"Jones will fall in six," said

Knicks Delt 114-112 Loss By Cincinnati

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knickerbockers got to use The Shot. But it looks as though they've fired their last shot in a bid to gain a playoff berth in the National Basketball Association.

Jack (The Shot) Foley made his debut with the Knicks Friday night and the former Holy Cross star did well, scoring four points in a 5-minute stint. However, Foley, acquired from the Boston Celtics, couldn't turn the tide and the Knicks were upended by the Cincinnati Royals 114-112.

The setback dropped New York 11 games behind the Royals, who occupy third place in the NBA's Eastern Division. In other games the Celtics whipped the St. Louis Hawks 113-98, Detroit edged Chicago 113-111 and the Los Angeles Lakers beat Syracuse 122-114.

Cincinnati, which led New York by 15 in the opening half, had to rally in the second half to pull it out.

At Chicago, General Manager Frank Lane of the Zephyrs was ejected from court by referee Willie Smith in the first quarter for protesting several decisions.

Los Angeles, by winning, moved seven games in front of St. Louis in the Western Division.

One of our boys was picked up the other day for not having his license transferred. He bought a car, on the purchase order he was charged $4.50 for title and license transfer it said. He went before Judge Deihm in Mahoning County. He left him off without charge. I thought that was real nice of this judge. He told the boy to go back to the garage and get his money back, the $4.50.

Legislators' Reactions Differ Over State Tax Boost Rumor

By WILLIAM VANCE
News Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio — The answer to the overriding question in and out of the legislative halls here is as hard to pin down as the money upon which it hinges. Will the state tighten its bite on Ohioans' pocketbooks this year?

The answer you get depends largely on the party label of the person you ask.

Republicans, from Gov. James A. Rhodes on down, say they don't know yet but they hope a firm grip on the purse strings will preclude a tax hike.

Goes Out on Limb

Democrats assume a "we-told-you-so" look and come up with everything from a qualified yes to an unqualified no.

The man who eventually may be in the best position to supply the first definite answer—Finance Director Richard L. Krabach—grabbed an end-of-the-limb seat Monday with his reply:

"There will be no request for new taxes."

The next morning his boss helped him down by pouring lukewarm water on the statement.

Krabach, said Rhodes, was voicing a recommendation, not policy. It's too early to tell what the next few months will bring, he said. "I hope what he said is right and that I can stand squarely behind him."

The question of taxes or continued austerity has its foundation in the size of the state's deficit.

Krabach says a state audit put the figure at $83,063,518 as of last Nov. 30.

But Democrats such as Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King of Toledo say that figure was produced at a poor time—right after a massive school foundation payment—and does not reflect a true picture of the state's financial condition.

"It's like me asking you how much money you've got in your pocket right now and trying to balance it against your total debts," said King just prior to adjournment Thursday.

To get the whole picture, he said, the audit should be taken at the end of the fiscal year or at the end of the biennium.

In his Jan. 8 state of the state message, former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle indicated Ohio would end the fiscal year with a balance of some $6 million at the present rate of operations.

Likes DiSalle's Prediction

"I still think Mike's prediction will hold up... that there will be a possible cash balance, that we'll be in the black some," King said.

But while King doubts the reliability of the $83 million deficit figure, he isn't ruling out a need for additional funds.

"I think the administration can't meet the promises of the campaign or even their statutory obligations unless they get some additional money," he said. "But I'm not necessarily saying we need new taxes," he added.

Across the aisle in the upper chamber, Sen. William H. Deddens, R-Cincinnati, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the state will need up to $300 million in new taxes unless an extreme austerity program is continued.

Favors Austerity

"Personally," said Deddens, "I'm more willing to cast my lot with a program of most extreme austerity and avoid imposition of taxes."

What may affect the picture is the revenue which comes to the state in huge but irregular chunks.

Democrats claim that once the state gets past the big February school foundation payment everything may be coming up roses because of funds from such sources as the corporation franchise tax.

But Republicans maintain the yield won't be great enough to offset the damage already done by overspending.

Krabach was asked for revenue estimates but said he doesn't have them yet. Thus it is difficult for anyone, regardless of political affiliation to take a cold look at the $83 million figure and answer the tax question.

PRESIDENT'S PLANE — This sleek, new Boeing VC-137C was recently delivered to the Special Air Missions squadron of the U.S.A.F. Military Air Transport Service. It is designed for use by the President and, when not used by him, for other high-ranking government officials and foreign dignitaries visiting the United States. A special version of the familiar Boeing 707 in domestic airlines service, the VC-137C has a range of 7,000 miles and speed of more than 550 miles an hour.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: For the girls and boys who have worn out tennis shoes I have found an attractive way to patch them.

Where the holes are... try sewing on a button or embroidering a button hole with a colored thread. Then apply the button! Also, it has become a fad in my town to sew patches of different shapes out of heavy material to cover the holes. It looks real neat.

JEANNET HEVENS.

My daughter just tried it. She sewed big fancy buttons on each toe. Darling idea.

HELOISE: I wonder if the ladies have ever tried my scheme for removing fat from gravy, broth, stew etc. in a hurry.

I drop some ice cubes (NOT hot) into the hot broth and in a matter of minutes the ice cubes are coated with hard wax fat.

You can then scoop the ice cubes and all of the fat off the top of the broth and have clear broth in a matter of minutes.

MILDRED KUHN.

DEAR HELOISE: Why can't I hear the alarm clock go off in the mornings? For years my husband has gripped at me about this until I finally had to go to a doctor and he said nothing was wrong with my hearing. Now my husband told me to write you. Help me please.

MATILDA.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is the way we remove creases—left by a hem which has been pressed in for a long time.

Use a sponge and wet thoroughly a piece of heavy, clean, brown wrapping paper. Use it for a pressing cloth under a very hot iron. This seems to make more steam than a steam iron produces.

Take care not to let the brown paper become dry lest the fabric be scorched or made shiny.

While the fabric is still full of live steam, "pull" it until the needle holes vanish or until the crease leaves.

Of course, it is understood that the hem has been ripped out and the fabric is smoothed out before this intense steaming and pressing begins.

GRACE GREER.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who like a tangy taste on their lettuce salad: try using the juice of kosher dill pickles! Sure makes a difference.

BACHELOR.

DEAR HELOISE: For "sticky keys" in door locks, I use graphite which can be purchased at any store.

FLORENCE WASSERMAN.
